

EVALUATION

- Content Skills: Knowledge that is work specific such as computer programming, accounting

- Functional or Transferable Skills: Skills which can be used in any role such as organizing, developing, communicating

National Account Manager- Nestlé Professional Beverages Canada(150001JZ)

Description

Nestlé was ranked the fifth most loved brand in the world in a survey of 70,000 consumers in 15 major international markets. Nestlé Canada was voted one of the best workplaces in Canada for three consecutive years, and was also named one of Canada's 10 Most Admired Corporate Cultures in 2013. Recognized in Canadian Business, the Nestlé brand was named #9 by consumers on the World's Most Reputable Companies list and ranked #2 for the Best Reputation in North America! Find out why, There is more to Life at Nestlé...

We offer you:

- Great comprehensive benefits package including Health and Dental benefits that start on day one.
- Excellent training and development programs as well as opportunities to grow within the company.
- Comprehensive Total Rewards Package and Company Matched Retirement Plan.

In this unique and exciting assignment the incumbent will be responsible for achieving targeted sales of Nestlé Professional Beverages by promoting product's features and benefits to new and existing National Account chain customers in the assigned channel.

Major Responsibilities

- Review and evaluate National Account objectives and strategies and meet all placement growth targets.
- Build and maintain relationships with key customers in order to maximize sales and ensure proper execution of pricing and promotional programs
- Leverage NPB existing sales force to evaluate existing customer compliance, gain competitor information, and provide a valued source for new National Account opportunities.
- Grow Standard Beverage and Non-Dispensed Beverage business through assigned accounts
- Develop opportunities to drive consumption as well as to gain new profitable accounts
- Pursue opportunities that involve creation of custom label products where the volume and margins would be acceptable
- Leverage key relationships within NPB distribution partners, NP Culinary, and the NPB U.S. National Accounts counterparts allowing for maximum exposure and networking
- Provide profit analysis templates to the National Account Leader on new business and existing contract renewals
- Provide professional and concise contracts for all new business & renewals
- Resolve National Accounts concerns and issues
- Work with all sales, support and logistics employees internally to ensure maximum efficiency and results
- Grow margins, meet assigned targets and finance objectives on all new business opportunities
- Demonstrate commercial acumen and National Account brand awareness
- Manage the trade spend and placement of trade assets

Qualifications

- A university degree in Business or Marketing or equivalent combination of education and experience
- Strong working knowledge and experience in the Canadian Foodservice industry
- Minimum 5 years of progressive experience in sales and national account management
- Entrepreneurial spirit with the ability to leverage Nestlé processes, resources and environment.
- Ability to communicate internally and externally with multiple functions especially Executive level management, National Procurement and Planning Managers as well as Key Account Management.
- Strategic thinking with the ability to influence others
- Demonstrated project management, presentation and negotiating skills
- Self-motivated, results focused with strong analytical skills
- Must be able to effectively manage change in a fast paced dynamic environment
- Must provide proof of a valid driver's license and clean driver's abstract
- Computer literacy: MS applications (Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook, others)

Please note; Education Verification, Reference Checks and Criminal Background Checks will be administered on suitably qualified candidates.

If you believe you have the profile we are looking for and you want to make your mark in the World's Largest Food and Beverage Company, we look forward to hearing from you! We thank you for your interest in this opportunity; however only those individuals selected for an interview will be contacted.

Competency Based Behavioural Interview Questions

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Planning and Organizing	Effectively defines, plans, schedules, and controls projects; identifies, integrates and orchestrates the resources (people, material, information, budget, time) required to accomplish goals.
	▪ Oftentimes, we have multiple tasks and deadlines hitting at the same time. Tell me about the most recent time that you faced this situation. What steps did you take to manage your commitments? ▪ Tell me about a time when you managed a project or task and it was particularly challenging to assign resources to it. How did you decide the type and level of resources? How did the project turn out? ▪ When we have numerous responsibilities, scheduling conflicts occur. Describe a specific time when you had conflicts in your schedule. How did you deal with the situation? Discuss any measures you took to prevent this situation from occurring again. ▪ Tell me about the most successful project you have ever managed. Describe your approach and actions in detail.
Bias for Action / Initiative	Quickly identifies and acts on opportunities to attain better results, or exceed expectations before being asked or required to do so.
	▪ Discuss a time when you have gone way above and beyond your job requirements to complete a task. ▪ Give me an example of something special you have done to make your job easier or more productive. ▪ Describe the most recent time that you made work improvement suggestions to a colleague or supervisor. What actions did you take toward putting your suggestions in place? ▪ Sometimes a job situation does not turn out the way we had hoped. Have you encountered a job situation like that? What did you do? ▪ Discuss a recent time when you saw an opportunity and took action before anyone else even noticed that it was there.
Decision-Making / Judgment	Makes timely, effective decisions and renders judgment after adequately considering alternative courses of action
	▪ Describe an especially challenging work-related problem that you faced in the past. What alternatives did you consider? What was your solution? ▪ Think of a time when you hit a very challenging roadblock while completing a task or project. How did you identify the cause of the problem? ▪ Sometimes problems occur that have no obvious solution. Describe the most ambiguous problem you have faced. How did you gather information about the situation? What resources did you use? ▪ Usually, there isn't time to research all alternatives before making a decision. Think about the most recent time this happened to you. What decision had to be made? How much information did you review before making the decision? ▪ Tell me about the most important decision that you have had to make at work. Describe the situation and how you made the decision.

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Teamwork	Works collaboratively with others to achieve group goals; energizes people to work together to accomplish business results.
	▪ Describe the most recent time you aided a co-worker in completing a task or project. What was the project/task and why did you help this individual? ▪ Discuss a particularly successful project or task where you were recognized for your contribution. ▪ At times working with others on a team can be challenging. Describe a time when you worked with an especially difficult team of individuals. How did you deal with the situation? ▪ At times working with others on a team can be challenging. Describe a time when you worked with an especially difficult team of individuals. How did you deal with the situation?
Developing Others	Leads others in a manner that builds their confidence and capabilities, challenging and supporting employees to learn and grow from their experiences.
	▪ Coaching others is especially challenging, when the person you're coaching is having a hard time understanding the task. Describe a time when you faced this situation. What actions did you take to help the person understand? ▪ Keeping individuals motivated while they learn a new task can be tricky. Discuss a time when you coached someone through an especially challenging task. What did you do to keep this person motivated? ▪ Different people learn in different ways. Describe an instance when you were teaching a similar task to two different people. Did you use the same method to teach both individuals? Describe how the experiences were the same and different. ▪ Some people are resistant to coaching from others. Describe a particularly challenging coaching situation where the individual was not open to learning the new task. How did you approach the situation?
Customer Focus	Demonstrates concern for meeting and exceeding immediate and future needs of customers.
	▪ Describe the most recent time when you went above and beyond your typical job duties to meet a customer's need. ▪ Sometimes customers make unreasonable requests. Describe a time when a customer made an especially unreasonable request. How did you handle this situation? ▪ Describe the last customer problem that you solved. What steps did you take to ensure the customer was satisfied with the outcome? ▪ It is important to keep tabs on customers' satisfaction with a product or service. Describe a specific process or procedure you have established that allows you to monitor customer satisfaction.
Creativity and Innovation	Generates and promotes new ideas and uses them to develop new or improved processes, methods, systems, solutions, products, or services.
	▪ Tell me about the most creative idea or work that you have ever produced. Describe your approach and actions in detail. ▪ Tell me about a time that you used creativity to help you convince others of your viewpoint. What did you do to get the others to see your point of view? ▪ Creativity often involves combining existing information in novel ways. Describe a time that you synthesized existing information to create something new. How did your new approach affect the situation?

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Composure	Maintains focused and under control under stressful circumstances. - Stressful situations often cause increased emotionality. Tell me about the most stressful situation you have ever been in at work. How did you handle the pressure? How did the stress impact your objectives? - Stress can often decrease our job effectiveness. Tell me about a particularly stressful situation that could have affected your performance at work if you had let it. How did you cope with the stress? - Sometimes we have to make tradeoffs between what's good for us and what's good for the organization. Tell me about the biggest tradeoff that you have had to make. What did you decide to do?
Self Confidence	Demonstrates belief in own abilities, and the willingness to exercise ones own judgment, especially under challenging circumstances. - Setbacks and disappointments happen to all of us. Describe the biggest setback at work that you have successfully endured. How did you cope with the adversity? - It is difficult to maintain our efforts to succeed after serious disappointments. Tell me about a setback at work that you faced and then had to renew your efforts to succeed. How did you approach the situation differently after the initial setback? - Having confidence in yourself is important for success. Tell me about the time that self-confidence played the largest role in your success at work. How did your confidence help you to succeed where others might have failed? - We all have areas in which we lack self-confidence. Tell me about a time when you felt uncertain and had to get over it to succeed in an important work endeavor. How did you build up your confidence?
Quality Commitment	Demonstrates attention to producing a high quality end product and constantly looks for opportunities to improve work processes and results. - Tell me about the time that you produced your highest quality work. How did you ensure the integrity and detail in the work? - Tell me about a time that you found an error in work which others had missed. How did you locate the mistake when others didn't? - There is always a trade-off between quality and quantity. Describe a situation where this issue posed the biggest challenge in your work. How did you decide whether to put more energy into quality or quantity? What was the outcome? - Sometimes others do not meet our own quality expectations. Tell me about the most challenging time that you attempted to raise the quality standards of someone you worked with. How did you try to motivate this person to be more quality focused?
Sales Skills	Identifying needs and opportunities, representing capabilities, and closing sales; using effective interpersonal behaviors to establish rapport, build relationships, and establish trust. - Tell me about the most important sale you have ever made. Describe your approach and the impact of the sale. - Sales success requires keen insight into a customer's needs. Tell me about the time that you were best able to see the customer's perspective, and thus persuade them to buy your product. How did you come to understand their needs so well? - Sales people must often prioritize their prospects. Tell me about a situation where you prioritized your prospects and achieved the most positive results. - Tell me about a time when it was particularly difficult to identify a customer's needs. How did you go about uncovering their needs?

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Impact and Influence	Develops and uses effective strategies to influence others or gain their support. - Others are often persuaded by emotional appeals. Tell me about the most successful emotional appeal that you have ever used to persuade someone. Why did you rely on emotion rather than a more objective argument? - Persuading someone on one point can require offering a concession on another. Think about a time that you made a concession to attain something you needed. How did you decide what concession on your part would be most persuasive for the other party? - Tell me about the most thoroughly constructed logical argument that you have ever used to persuade someone. Why did you choose a logical argument rather than a more emotional appeal?
Negotiation Skills	Able to effectively reach compromises or gain concessions in adversarial or other situations where initial positions are not in agreement; able to reach win-win agreements. - Tell me about the most emotionally charged negotiation that you have been a part of. How did you manage this negotiation? - When negotiating you need to prioritize the needs and concerns of each position. Tell me about a situation where this was particularly challenging. How did you balance the needs of both parties? - Tell me about a negotiation where it was particularly difficult for you to identify common ground between you and the other party. How did you approach the negotiation? - Tell me about your greatest success in negotiating a win-win solution. What actions on your part led to a win for each party?
Open Communication / Listening	Ensures accurate understanding and acts in a way that facilitates open exchange of ideas and information. - Organization is often a key to successful communication. Tell me about a time when organizing your message was most critical to the success of your communication. How did you organize your message to make it clear? - Describe a specific situation where you had to communicate a complex message and make sure that it was fully understood. What approach did you take? How did you make sure that the message was understood? - Tell me about the most difficult message that you ever had to communicate. How did you get the message across? What tools, if any, did you use to communicate your message? - Describe the time you had to deliver a communication to the most uninformed audience. How did you get your point across? What did you learn from the experience?
Oral Communication / Presentation	Effectively transfers thoughts and expresses ideas verbally in individual or group situations. - Tell me about the most difficult presentation that you ever had to deliver. Describe the factors that made it difficult, your approach, and the impact of the communication. - Tell me about the most successful presentation you have delivered by using a presentation style different from your normal style. Why did you choose a different approach? What was the outcome? - Tell me about the most successful presentation you ever delivered. What characteristics of your delivery made it so successful? What did you learn from the event?

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Strategic Business Focus	Understands business concepts and practices; keeps up to date with business trends and developments; works to create new solutions for customers and competitive advantage for the company.
	▪ To formulate a business strategy you must often analyze a lot of data. Describe the most challenging time that you had to analyze large amounts of data to formulate your strategy. How did you use this information to decide on a final direction? ▪ Formulating successful business strategies requires an understanding of market trends. Tell me about your most extensive analysis of market trends. What approach did you take? How did you use the information to create a better business strategy? ▪ Developing business strategy often requires analyzing competitive information. Tell me about the most thorough competitive analysis you have ever initiated. How was it useful?
Networking / Relationship Building	Develops and maintains a network of contacts; acts in a way that indicates understanding and accurate interpretation of others concerns and feelings; creates an organizational climate in which people from different cultures and countries feel accepted.
	▪ Working with a group of people who are very different from each other can be challenging. Tell me about the most diverse group of people that you have ever worked with. How did you approach this situation? ▪ Building relationships requires maintaining high levels of trust. Tell me about the most challenging time that you had to maintain an appropriate balance of trust and candor when dealing with another individual. ▪ Building relationships is often difficult. Describe a relationship that was the most difficult to develop. What obstacles did you encounter? How did you overcome them?
Strategic Leadership	Builds and communicates a vision for the future and of the team's role in that future; defines core purpose and direction; fosters motivation and commitment; initiates and leads the strategic change process.
	▪ Describe the time or situation that best illustrates your strategic leadership. What specific actions led to this successful result? ▪ Just as important as creating a vision is your ability to integrate that vision into current business and performance plans. Tell me about the greatest challenge you've faced trying to integrate a future vision into current business practice. ▪ Successful leaders are often able to create rousing imagery to motivate others. Tell me about the time that you imparted your most compelling vision to others. What language did you use to communicate the vision?
Analytical Thinking / Problem Solving	Works systematically and logically to resolve problems, address opportunities, or manage the situation at hand; identifies causes, relationships, and implications.
	▪ Sometimes the most popular solution to a problem is not the best decision. Describe a time where you were faced with an important decision where the best solution may have been unpopular. ▪ What was the toughest problem you had to solve recently? Describe the situation and how you arrived at your solution. ▪ It can be a challenge to reduce a large amount of data into a format that is easy for others to understand. Tell me about a situation where you successfully organized a large amount of data to present to other people.

Competency Name	Definition/Question
Managing Performance	Sets clear performance expectations for self and others; monitors and guides progress; seeks and gives feedback; appraises results.
	▪ Tell me about your most successful experience in motivating an individual to improve their performance. Describe the situation, your approach and the factors that led to your success. ▪ Tell me about the most difficult task you ever delegated. What did you do to ensure success? ▪ Think about the least effective employee that you have ever managed. What steps did you take to improve this individual's performance?
Drive for Results	Demonstrates concern for the successful achievement of results; works persistently to overcome obstacles to goal achievement.
	▪ Describe the kinds of systems you use to keep track of what's going in your area of responsibility. Tell me about the most recent time that you used one of these systems to detect a problem and solve it. ▪ Tell me about a time when you had to overcome significant obstacles in order to achieve an important task. ▪ Tell me about the most challenging or difficult assignment you requested to be assigned to you. How did you successfully complete the task?
Conceptual Thinking	Understands complex situations; sees patterns and uses or creates concepts; assembles pieces of information into a cohesive whole.
	▪ Tell me about a time when you were able to quickly understand a complex situation by recognizing similarities with past situations you had faced. ▪ In order to be effective in a complex situation, it is important to recognize underlying issues or principles that are present. Describe a time when you were able to be effective by recognizing underlying issues. ▪ Tell me about the most successful new product or service that you helped design or develop. Describe the product and your design approach in detail.
Organizational Awareness	Understands the agendas and perspectives of others; recognizing and effectively balancing the interests and needs of ones own group with those of the broader organization.
	▪ What actions have you taken to establish relationships with other departments or individuals within the organization that are important for you to achieve your work goals. ▪ Sometimes we have to sacrifice our own needs for the good of the organization. Describe the most significant example of when you have balanced your personal goals and needs with those of the organization. ▪ It is important to stay up to date about key issues and developments in other parts of the company. How do you stay current in your understanding. Provide some examples of key issues you have researched recently.

S.T.A.R. STORY EXAMPLE

- Situation: I was assigned as an account manager to take over an underperforming sales territory – #92 out of 100 districts.
- Task: To increase sales 20% and boost customer base 10%. Costs in the division were steadily rising, and I was asked to find ways to reduce them.
- Action: A market analysis and customer service survey was conducted; a business plan that focused on value-added service, sales incentives, and referral bonus program to benefit customers was developed; and 3-level marketing strategy was rolled out to implement the plan.
- Result: District ranking improved to #9 in the region within a year; store sales increased 37%. My business plan was adapted for use by all account managers in the region. Earned Account Manager of the Year Award.

What are the positives about this story?

What improvements can be made?

Sample Behavioural Interviewing Questions

1. Tell me about a time you solved a difficult problem that could have had significant impact.
2. Describe the most difficult decision you've made in the last 6 months.
3. Tell me about a time you took initiative to do something that needed to be done, even though it wasn't really your responsibility.
4. Describe an important goal you have achieved, and how you achieved it. Tell me about set-backs you experienced.
5. Describe a time when you had difficulty communicating your thoughts clearly to an individual or group.
6. Tell me about a time you voiced a concern or disagreement to a coworker or supervisor.
7. Tell me about a situation in which you had to collaborate with several people to achieve a goal.
8. Describe your most disappointing experience. How did you cope with it? What did you do to move beyond it?
9. Describe a time when you were faced with a stressful situation that required coping skills.
10. Give me a specific example of a time when you convinced your manager of an idea. How did you accomplish this and what was the result?
11. Tell me about a time when you took on a leadership role.
12. Tell me about a time you provided excellent customer service.
13. Describe a situation in which you were able to use persuasion to successfully convince someone to see things your way.
14. Give me a specific example of a time when you used good judgment and logic in solving a problem.
15. Tell me about a time when you had to use your presentation skills to influence someone's opinion.
16. Tell me about a time when you had too many things to do and you were required to prioritize your tasks.
17. Give me an example of a time when you had to make a split second decision.
18. Tell me about a time you had to deal with conflict within your team.
19. Give me an example of when you showed initiative and took the lead.
20. Tell me about a recent situation in which you had to deal with a very upset customer or co-worker.
21. Give me an example of a time when you motivated others.
22. Tell me about a time when you delegated a project effectively.
23. Give me an example of a time when you used your fact-finding skills to solve a problem.
24. Tell me about a time when you missed an obvious solution to a problem.
25. Describe a time when you anticipated potential problems and developed preventive measures.
26. Tell me about a time when you were forced to make an unpopular decision.

Working with your colleagues: Questions about working with your colleagues are some other behavioral interview questions which may be difficult to answer. Remember, the interviewer is not looking for loyalty and camaraderie as much as he or she is looking for a person who is responsible for getting a particular assignment done in a good and amicable way. Therefore, you should give them the idea that you are a responsible colleague who can become a natural leader given the reason and the managerial support.

Situations of pressure: Another important question would be the how you handle pressure situations. It is well known that the best people are always found during a pressure situation and that every company wants someone who can handle any pressure situation. Therefore, your answer to the question should give them the idea that you are willing and able to handle any pressure situation that might occur in the workplace.

Use of judgment, logic or interaction: In essence, you can also be asked to give an example of a specific time when you used your judgment, logic or interaction to solve a problem in your professional life.

Personal goal: You would also be asked to give an example where you set a personal goal in your professional life and whether you were able to achieve it.

Your skills: Another question would be giving an example of when your presentation skills have changed the minds of your colleagues or your superiors. You would have to give a brief description of how you have introduced and implemented your ideas after supporting them with facts and practical reasoning.

Working out of your job profile: You may also be asked to give an example of when you have worked out of your job profile and above and beyond your normal job profile to make something happen for the company.

S.T.A.R Story Template

- Write down a skill relevant to the position you are seeking. (ie. Problem Solving). Use the Behavioural Questions handout for help.

- Develop a question related to the skill above. (ie. Think of a specific time when you where faced with a complex problem and tell me how you went about solving that problem).

- Prepare your STAR story that best demonstrates your experience and abilities.

S.T.A.R Story Summary Sheet

Name of your story	Highlights	Competencies
New supervisors	• New supervisors joined company • Different work styles resulting in friction and a lack of support and collaboration • Developed team building session • Created and implemented a formal forum • An engagement survey was administered to measure ongoing traction • Positive feedback • The monthly meetings initiative was implemented with other teams. The first of the survey results indicated an increase in positive employee engagement by 40%.	• Collaboration • Problem Solving • Continuous improvement
Story #2
Story #3
Story #4		